Dearest Sayang,

I can't imagine a world without you in it. The thought of losing you terrifies me more than anything. You are my everything, my love, my best friend, my home. Every moment with you is a blessing, and the idea of not having that scares me to my core.

I promise you, I will never let go. I will protect this love, cherish you, and hold you close through every storm. You mean more to me than words could ever express, and I will do everything I can to make sure we never lose what we have.

So let's make every day count, my love. Let's keep writing our story together, one filled with love, laughter, and memories. Because I can't lose you, and I never will.

*For you my beloved,
Amsyar Hamizan*
