

May 9th, 2025

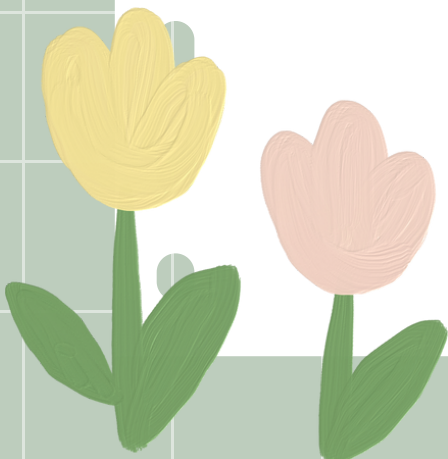

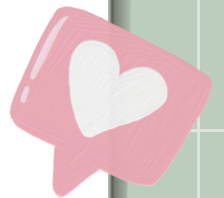

Always For You

Dear My Favorite Chapter,

Every new sunrise reminds me that I am still lucky to have you. My mornings begin with thoughts of you, and my nights end with dreams of you. In between, you are everywhere in the air I breathe, the silence I sit in, and the hope I carry in my chest. My love for you is not just a feeling, it is the rhythm of my days.

Lately, I have been reflecting on the distance that sometimes grows between us. I feel it, even if we do not speak of it. I want you to know that I am aware, and I am not blind to the moments where I fall short. I am trying. Maybe not perfectly, but genuinely. If I could fix every flaw in me with just love for you, I would have been flawless by now. But growth takes time, and I hope you can be patient with me.

No matter how quiet I become, no matter how long the day feels, I want you to always carry one truth with you I love you in every moment. Even the heavy ones. Even the confusing ones. Even when I do not say it. My love is stitched into everything I do. I love you endlessly. I love you without condition. I love you beyond today.

With Love,
Amsyar Hamizan

